1. MEETING ANNOUNCEMENTS

Abstracts are being sought for the 1st annual Scientific Conference entitled "Critical Issues in eHealth Research", sponsored by the National Institutes of Health and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. The conference will convene scientists from government, academia, survey research and the private sector, practitioners from the private and public sectors, and students to discuss the state-of-the-science of eHealth research from a variety of disciplinary perspectives. To learn more about the topics and application procedure, go to <http://www.scgcorp.com/ehealthconf2005/index.asp> .

The National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) announces a meeting, Youth with Multiple Problem Behaviors: A Translational Perspective, to be held on January 25-26, 2005, in Bethesda, MD. Registration is free. For additional information and online registration, go to <http://www.masimax.com/ypm/> .

2. INVITATION FROM AAPA

The Asian American Psychological Association (AAPA) is extending an invitation to SPR members who are interested in basic and applied research on Asian American populations to join this organization. This applies in particular to psychologists who work in non-clinical/non-counseling areas of psychology (e.g., community, organizational, social, developmental, health, etc) and to non-psychologists whose prevention interests focus on Asian American populations. You can learn more about AAPA programs and benefits that include the annual conference, the student bulletin board, AAPA's webpage and quarterly newsletter at <http://www.aapaonline.org> .

3. SUMMER RESEARCH INSTITUTE IN SUICIDE PREVENTION

The second annual session of research training program, the Summer Research Training Institute in Suicide Prevention (SRI/SP), funded by the National Institute of Mental health and organized by the University of Rochester Center for the Study and Prevention of Suicide, will be held June 19-25, 2005, in Rochester, NY. Funding is available for participants to attend a week-long training institute with national experts in the field of suicidology and related prevention science. For additional information and application procedures, go to http://www.preventionresearch.org/2005URMC_SRI-SP.pdf . The application submission deadline is February 2, 2005.
