An Invitation to Exhibit

Welcome to the 17th Annual Meeting of the Society for Prevention Research. We are delighted to extend an invitation to you to exhibit at our conference. Please find listed below information as it pertains to the meeting and the Society for Prevention Research. We are looking forward to working with you.

About the Society for Prevention Research

The Society for Prevention Research is a professional organization focused upon the advancement of science-based prevention programs and policies through empirical research. The membership of the organization includes scientists, practitioners, advocates, administrators, and policy makers who are concerned with the prevention of social, physical and mental health problems and the promotion of health, safety, and well-being. One of the primary goals of SPR is to create a scientific, multidisciplinary forum for prevention science. Topics of active interest include:

- Drug, alcohol, and tobacco use and abuse
- Psychiatric disorders and other mental health problems and related comorbidities
- Suicide
- HIV/AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases
- Delinquency, crime, and violence
- Child abuse
- Cancer
- Diabetes
- Obesity
- Cardiovascular disease
- Marital and couple distress
- Adolescent pregnancy
- School and work participation performance
- Physical illness and injury

Meeting Attendee Profile

The Society for Prevention Research Annual Meeting brings together a broad spectrum of researchers in the field of prevention. Attendees include the world's senior prevention researchers as well as those who will become recognized leaders in the near future. Members are affiliated as follows: 73% are faculty members from respected universities; 18% are students or post-doctoral fellows; 6% work for state or federal government agencies; 3% are affiliated with private research firms. The annual meeting is attended by those seeking the latest knowledge, tools and skills for addressing the social issues facing the nation and the world. The 2007 meeting held in Washington, D.C. had over 700 participants.

What Types of Companies Should Exhibit

Companies that market product and services that might be used by researchers or wish to market research-based prevention products and services to schools, communities, and other social agencies.

General Exhibit Information

The Society for Prevention Research will offer space in the exhibit area for companies interested in displaying products and services related to this conference and to the professional education of the attendees of the Society for Prevention Research. The Society for Prevention Research reserves the right to determine the eligibility of all exhibitor applicants.
